Tech Tip: Office Not Included!

This can cause some confusion for people, but Microsoft Windows does not come with Microsoft Office included. That means if you want to use Microsoft Word, Excel, Powerpoint or Outlook, you'll need to purchase Office separately or subscribe to Microsoft's Office 365 service. There are some limited function free web or mobile apps from Microsoft that will do in a pinch. There are also free alternatives like Google Docs (free access with any Gmail or Google Apps account is a Word, Excel and Powerpoint alternative), OpenOffice (Word, Excel and Powerpoint alternative) or Thunderbird (Outlook alternative from the makers of Firefox). Those free alternatives will also work on Macs if you're not a fan of Keynote, Pages, Numbers or Mail and they support Linux systems as well.
